Holualoa, HI (PRWEB) October 2, 2008 -- H. Maloha was exclusively invited to participate in one of the biggest nights in Hollywood. On September 21, 2008, The 60th Primetime Emmy Awards attracted such celebrities as Heidi Klum, Tina Fey, Glenn Close, Tom Hanks, Eva Longoria, Brooke Shields, Sally Field and Teri Hatcher. Another attraction that night was H. Maloha skin care serum. Before hitting the carpet, celebrities were provided this exclusive skin product to prepare and nourish their skin.

"After the tremendous response from celebrities with our participation in The 2008 MTV Movie Awards in June, we were excited that our Hawaiian bionutrient face serum was once again selected for celebrity gift bags at the Emmys," said Scott Mounce, mainland marketing director for H. Maloha. "Celebrities demand the absolute best skin care. We were extremely happy to know our bionutrient serum is being requested time and time again by our clients and for major events like this."

H. Maloha's breakthrough serum uses natural and organic ingredients in its serum, containing 29 botanicals, vitamins and antioxidants. The manufacturing of the serum is eco-friendly and it does not use animals in the testing of its product. The serum is 100% paraben free and contains no harsh chemicals, mineral oils, fragrances or other color additives that may harm the skin.
